The Black Camel bows before the door of every Tent.

In Memoriam.

EDWIN A. WILKINSON,

A Noble of Mt. Sinai Temple, N. M. S.

ADMITTED TO THE UNSEEN TEMPLE AUG. 10, 1892.

"And this is all? this changing early life,
And when pale eyelids close upon the strife,
The sound of pain, of care, of shortened joy,
Is this the end? Do souls, with dust alloy?

Is there no welcome to a home above;
No glad reunion with the ones we love,
No Saviour bidding there the weary rest,
Taking the bruised and broken to His breast?

Take all of human hope, of joy, of love;
But leave, Oh! leave that trust in God above;
That gives us faith to feel, to know, to say,
Beyond the night is everlasting day."
